

Tactics Changed.

Until within the last few days we have been apprehensive of another armed invasion from Missouri. The tone of the President's late proclamation has evidently changed the tactics of our neighbors, and their policy now, as shadowed forth in their late meeting at Independence, is to flood the Territory with mercenaries who are to appear to be actual settlers, probably after the manner of the Kickapoo Rangers. They are to be hired to come here, paid for their time and expenses, and a premium of 160 acres of public domain is to be given them for their sacrifices in behalf of Slavery. We have no particular objection to even this kind of emigrants. They increase the population of the State; are residents, and amenable to our laws, and of course subject to surrounding influences. Besides this: the voluntary emigration from the free North will counterbalance five to one, any emigration that can be got up in the South. It has been so in the past, and will be so in the future.

We look for no further invasions at present, and trust that peace and quiet will be restored to the country.

Thanks for the Ladies.

Mrs. Brown, and Mrs. Wood, each desire us to acknowledge the receipt of an elegant ivory stiletto from the hands of Capt. THOMAS BICKERTON, of the artillery, which were carved by him. Besides being instruments of practical utility on the work table, they are beautiful and rare ornaments, and do great credit to the mechanical skill and taste of the carver. Capt. B. will accept the thanks of the ladies for this mark of appreciation and kindness.

A Good Stopping Place.

Persons going up the country will make it in their way to stop with Mrs. BETHEM, at St. Mary's Mission. It is twenty-five miles above Topeka, on the north side of the Kansas river, and an equal distance between the latter place and Manhattan. Mrs. B. has fine stables, sets an excellent table, and is every way qualified for entertaining the traveling public. We recommend all persons having business up the country to call on Mrs. Bethem, feeling confident they will thank us for making her house known to them.

Withdrawn.

J. MILLER, Esq., senior editor of the Kansas Free State, published his valedictory last week, and has retired from the concern. The paper will be conducted by Mr. ELLIOTT.

A report has been current that Mr. M. was about commencing a pro-slavery paper in Leocompton. We are happy to say that it is another Miller than the late senior editor of the Free State.

Please Correct.

The Kansas Correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat says the Free State settlers in Kansas have received twenty breech-loading cannon, and two thousand superior arms from the East, by way of Iowa and Nebraska. We would suggest that our friend was misinformed, and would have come nearer the fact had he said one thousand rifles. He will be so kind as to correct his statement.

Small Receipts.

The muddy state of the roads preventing our Territorial friends from visiting our office, and detaining the mails, makes our column of acknowledgments appear rather meager this week. We have no doubt they will be greatly lengthened next week.

State Government.

The State Legislature of Kansas will convene at Topeka on Tuesday next, agreeably to the provision of the Constitution. We hope to be able to give Gov. Robinson's Inaugural in our next issue. We shall be in attendance at the Inauguration.

Great Joy.

The Eastern papers are jubilant, as they have reason to be, over the election of Mr. Banks as Speaker of the House. It was a great triumph for Freedom, and led to as hearty rejoicing in Kansas as in any other part of the country.

Please read the advertisements of Mr. FAXON. He is doing a good business at his new Provision Store, and is keeping a neat, tidy room, and doing up business in a manner creditable to himself and all concerned. We speak for him a liberal patronage.

Blank declaratory statements for entering lands in the Surveyor General's office, prior to the opening of a Land Office in Kansas, just printed, and for sale at ten cents a copy at this office.

At last advice Gen. SHANKLAND was in Boston. He has been invited to address the people of Massachusetts on Kansas affairs, which he will probably do.

On our fourth page will be found a letter from a pro-slavery man in Missouri, to Mr. ESKRIDGE of this place, and the latter gentleman's reply.

The Temperance Question in Kansas.

MR. EDITOR:—A candid expression of opinion on the Temperance movement seems to be called for just now. The meeting of Tuesday evening indicated clearly that while there was a general agreement as to the end to be reached, there was decidedly no harmony in the selection of means. With due respect to the opinions of others, I herewith give you my own view of the matter, believing it to be founded upon the correct principle.

So far as immediate measures are concerned, to check the progress of Intemperance in this city, an organized effort on the part of the friends of the cause, kept up without any flagging of interest, will doubtless result beneficially. In the present distracted state of Society, harsh measures would only tend to increase the disorder and strengthen that mobocratic feeling which prevails already too extensively. A social organization, with a sufficiently entertaining programme to reach out and induce the loose-footed and such as are inclined to drink, to attach themselves to it, would probably be the best thing that could be done at present. A society of this kind must have some other attraction than merely the promotion of Temperance, in order to insure its continuance. That can be the dominant object of its existence; but in its minor scopes it must comprehend a variety of operations. For it should be the design of such societies to render their meetings more attractive than dram-shops. I believe the present movement is gotten up to bring about that end.

But there is a greater work yet for the people in the cause of Temperance. Kansas is rather a unique country—different in almost every respect from other States—young and irresponsible, and just the place to commence this reform intelligently. Before distilleries are established here, the Legislature should pass a law forbidding the manufacture of liquors, making the infraction of the law a penitentiary offence; also a law prohibiting the sale of liquors, attaching the severest penalties in cases of violation. With these advantages secured, Society has only to pursue the right kind of policy to keep itself free of Intemperance.

There has been too much of a One-Idemism in past Temperance reforms. People have gone only half way in the work; they have taken away the unnatural stimulant, but neglected to substitute the natural; they have deprived the inebriate of the pleasurable feelings produced by the dram, (for with many the only time they feel a foretaste of heaven is when they are half drunk!) without affording any other enjoyment. Herein lies the cause of the failure of past movements. It is simply ignorance of the needs of human nature. And until Society follows up legislative enactments by supplying places of amusement, reading rooms, lectures, theaters, games, pleasure grounds, grounds well furnished for gymnastic exercises, literary and social societies, &c., &c., not a great deal of permanent good will be effected, though every page of your statute books be filled with "Maine Laws."

From the old, whose habits and opinions are fixed, nothing much in the way of reform can be expected. They are fearful of innovation, too fond of clinging to time-honored usages and old ways of thinking. We must let them slide, and look hopefully to the young. The young are radical and have very little reverence for an old custom on account of its age; but they must receive a correct education, begun at home and finished at Manual Labor Free Colleges, in order to make them constitutionally Temperance men and women.

I have given you a slight hint of what I believe is the only practicable and rational method to go about the Temperance Reform with any certainty of lasting benefit. It is a work of time and earnestness. J. H. GREENE. LAWRENCE, Feb. 28, 1856.

A Fight.

HAMPTON, NEOSHO VALLEY, February 14, 1856. ED. HERALD OF FREEDOM:—I have just learned, from authority beyond doubt, of a serious rencontre that took place some thirty miles below, between JOHN DAILY, our Senator elect from this district, formerly from the eastern section of Indiana, and a Border Ruffian. The dark-souled demon attacked Daily, and Daily stabbed him with a knife, inflicting one or more dangerous wounds, strictly in self-defense.

The gallant Daily has swept the district like a young hurricane, as has the whole Free State ticket. Three cheers for the lion-hearted Daily, and three times three for the gallant spirits, Robinson, Lane and all who were connected with the late war, in the defence of Freedom. Yours, LEVI HEDDING.

Words of Cheer.

WOLCOTT MILLS, IND., Feb. 4, '56. FRIEND BROWN:—Enclosed I send you two dollars to continue the Herald of Freedom. I am in the habit of taking four or five papers, yet when I miss the Herald I lose a mental feast. I have watched the movements in Kansas with intense interest since you adopted it as your home. You have passed through scenes that tried men's hearts, and may have more of the same to pass through; but may God avert an ordeal so severe. Were I young I would have been with you are this, but the frosts of sixty winter, save one, have passed over me, and what I do must be through some other channel. The struggle between slavery and freedom has come, and you have planted the standard of freedom on the battle-field, and may the God of Justice and of Washington enable you to sustain it in triumph. Yours for freedom, PHILIP TAYLOR.

Pratfalls.

Specimen of it on a large scale would be a murderous war between England and the United States—nations kindred in blood and language, and glorying in almost the same literature, institutions and laws. Who, but some insensate fiend, could rejoice over such a war—a battle of brothers, whose hands, linked in peace to push on the wheels of civilization, could, in half a century, subdue the wilderness and the hostilities of the world—could make the earth a pleasant, free dwelling place for all its nations and tribes—from the page of history. Away in the Indian seas, in October last, the hands of Englishmen and Americans were joined to do common battle, against the common enemies of peaceful man—the Chinese pirates. There the Anglo-Saxons of the two hemispheres met shoulder to shoulder—their blood mingled, crimsoning the dark waters—some fell wounded, some dead, but victory crowned the interlocking standards, and the cause of humanity rejoiced. Can the nations go to war, whose sons thus fraternize in a remote corner of the globe, and give their blood as a sacrifice for the good of mankind. God forbid?—Brooklyn Times.

Southern Emigration to Kansas.

On the 6th of April a regiment of volunteers from Alabama will leave Montgomery for Kansas under the command of Major Buford. The regiment will be composed of 400 men, divided into companies of 50 each, commanded and drilled by officers chosen by themselves. The outfit is to be six blankets, one gun, one knapsack and one frying pan. Major Buford is to pay the expenses of the regiment to Kansas, and in return the members are to acquire a pre-emption and pay him out of that. The men are bona fide settlers, who go to Kansas as a permanent place of residence. Savannah Republican.

Public Meeting.

Proceedings of Temperance Meeting. LAWRENCE, Feb. 25, 1856.

Pursuant to a call lately issued, signed "Many Citizens," a meeting was held at Union Hall, on the evening of Tuesday, the 26th inst., to take into consideration what measures should be adopted by the friends of temperance in this town to retard the alarming growth of intemperance, and, if possible, to stop the sale of intoxicating liquors in our midst.

The evening being a very rainy and disagreeable one, the large attendance was very gratifying, as it manifested the deep interest felt in this matter by all the better classes of our citizens.

The meeting was organized by appointing P. Richmond Brooks to the Chair.

On motion, B. W. Woodward was appointed Secretary of the meeting.

E. D. Ladd, Esq., being called upon, briefly stated the object of the meeting. It was mainly as stated in the call. Intemperance prevails and increases alarmingly among us. It was full time for the friends of humanity to step forward and consult together—have a concert of action, and devise some plan which shall counteract the evil influence at work.

It argued very favorably, he thought, to see so many here to night, although the weather was so disagreeable without. In view that many have unavoidably been detained from being present here this evening, he thought it might be best to make this only a preliminary meeting, have a general sentiment, and appoint a committee to prepare a plan of action to be submitted at an adjourned meeting.

Remarks were made by Messrs. ESKRIDGE, Spear, Greene, Lawrence, Carls, Stearns, Fuller, Wm. Hutchinson, Revs. G. W. Hutchinson, Knight and Lovejoy. Though all appeared to agree in the necessity of taking some decisive stand against this practice of rum-selling and dram-drinking in our midst, quite a diversity of sentiment was elicited in regard to what measures would be most advisable in the present crisis, and in view of the peculiar circumstances by which we are surrounded.

On motion, a committee of thirteen was appointed to prepare a plan of action to lay before next meeting. This committee was afterwards increased, by the nomination of two additional names, to the number of fifteen. A suggestion, made by Mr. Ladd, that this committee should be so selected as to represent the different phases of sentiment, was favorably considered, and the following gentlemen nominated to serve on that committee: E. D. Ladd, Charles Robinson, J. H. Lane, G. W. Hutchinson, Wm. Hutchinson, J. L. Spear, C. Stearns, Rev. Lovejoy, N. S. Storrs, J. H. Greene, B. Johnson, — Lawrence, G. W. Brown, P. Brooks, C. S. Pratt.

On motion, adjourned to meet again in this place on Saturday evening next, March 1st, at 7 o'clock P. M., when it is hoped a full attendance of all the temperance men in this place will be had. P. R. BROOKS, Ch'mn. B. W. WOODWARD, Sec'y.
